JURY FINDS FOR THE RAILROAD

Returns Verdict For C. H. & D. In $10,000 Damage Suit Brought by Mrs. O. P. Dillon.

IN AN INDIANAPOLIS COURT

Case is Outgrowth of Accident at Main Street Crossing Where
Dr. Dillon Was Killed.

A jury in Superior Court, room number two, in Indianapolis, returned a verdict today for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton in the damage suit for $10,000 filed against that road by Mrs. O. P. Dillon of North Main street.

The case was started in that court before Judge Collier and a jury Tuesday morning at the opening of court. Evidence was introduced all day Tuesday and Wednesday and yesterday evening at 5:30 o'clock the case went to the jury. Today the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, not allowing the plaintiff any damages whatever.

The suit was brought by Mrs. O. P. Dillon on account of the killing of her husband. The completion of the case recalls the terrible accident at the Main street crossing of the C. H. & D. one Sunday morning in February, 1908. The automobile in which he rode was hit by a fast mail train and he was killed instantly and the machine was demolished. Mrs. Dillon waited until shortly before the time limit for filing her complaint had expired before she brought suit. The case was filed in superior court almost two years after the accident, the time limit being two years.

The hearing in superior court was primarily a Rush county affair. The judge of the court, Collier, is a Rush county man and was born and reared in Washington township. Miss Dove Meredith, the stenographer in the court, is a Rushville woman and resided here until a few years ago and the case was a Rush county suit, over an accident which happened in Rushville.

Smith, Cambern & Smith were attorneys for the railroad and Mrs. Dillon was represented by Sam Traub.

STELLA V REEVE WANTS A DIVORCE

Brings Suit Against George W. Reeve in Court Charging Cruel and Inhuman Treatment.

DEFENDANT NOT HERE NOW

Stella V. Reeve of 231 East Sixth street brought suit in the Rush circuit court today for divorce against her husband George W. Reeve, formerly owner of a garage at the corner of Morgan and Second streets. Mrs. Reeves says in the complaint that they were married February 6, 1896 and lived together until September 12, 1911. She charges that before separation her husband was guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment and that at the time of and prior to separation he was a habitual drunkard. She requests the custody of her two daughters, Lois and Beatrice.

Reeve left here some time ago and his garage has been sold. It is said that he is in some city in the West and never intends to return.

MAYOR WILL SHOW TEAM

Lew Shank Will Bring Pair Here For Horse Show.

While here Tuesday for the Republican love feast and the non-partisan celebration, Lewis Shank, mayor of Indianapolis, said that he had a team of horses which he intended to enter in the fall horse show here. The mayor declared that his pair are thoroughbreds, the kind that he calculates can win a premium. He was warned that he will have some very high-classed horses to show against and he expressed the belief that his team will show to advantage with the best. The mayor of Indianapolis was very favorably impressed with Rushville and said that he would be back often.

KNIGHTSTOWN DRUG CLERK ARRESTED

Heber Herkless of the Jolly Store is Charged With Selling Liquor
Without License.

ON GRAND JURY INDICTMENT

The first arrest resulting from the illegal liquor sales investigation in Knightstown by the grand jury, occurred Tuesday, when Sheriff Kirk served two warrants on Heber Herkless, charging him with selling liquor without a license, and with selling liquor on an application when he did not know the applicant, says the New Castle Courier. Herkless gave $150 for his appearance in the circuit court.

The accused is a clerk in the Jolly drug store in Knightstown. He is about nineteen years of age and was recently licensed as a pharmacist by the State board of pharmacy. He says that he is not guilty and will fight the case.

The grand jury held a short session Wednesday. The body adjourned at 10 o'clock in order to participate in the "Sherman day" celebration in this city. Another session will be held Thursday and Friday, after which an adjournment for ten days will be taken.

WINIFRED MUIRE IS SAFE IN CHINA

Local Woman Who is Engaged in Missionary Work is Miles Away From Trouble.

INTERNAL WARFARE THERE

Word has been received here that Miss Winifred Muire of this city, who is now engaged in missionary work in China, is far away from the internal warfare in that country. Some concern has been expressed concerning the safety of Miss Muire but her relatives say that she is hundreds of miles away from the seat of the miniature revolution. A few days since a town was captured and all of the American residents were in jeopardy but it is many miles away from the point where Miss Muire has been.

When Miss Muire first went to China she taught in a school at Nan Shang. Not long ago that school burned down and Miss Muire was transferred to a girls school at Nan Kiang, forty miles distant. Nan Shang is six hundred miles inland and in the southern part of China while the trouble is in the northern part.

HIS LAST DAY IS ENJOYABLE ONE

Vice-President Sherman is Treated to Many Varieties of Pleasure at New Castle.

DINNER, APEX OF ENJOYMENT

"Sunny Jim" Samples Some Paw-paws on Trip With Local Auto Party to "Rose City."

Vice-President James S. Sherman's visit in Indiana was concluded with a round of entertainment and pleasure at New Castle yesterday afternoon and last night, after which he left for Chicago, to go from there to Sturgis, Mich., to be the principal speaker at a celebration over the opening of a power dam. The vice-president and his host, James E. Watson, were entertained in that good old-fashioned New Castle way. The large delegation of Rushville men returned last night with showers of praise for the Henry countyites.

The program at New Castle closed last evening with a dinner at the New Castle club at which W. O. Barnard, former congressman, was host. At eight o'clock wives of the guests at the dinner and other men and women of New Castle appeared. After an hour of hand-shaking and chatting, the vice-president, Mr. Watson and a number of Rushville men left for Indianapolis, where the party disbanded, each going his separate way.

Vice-President Sherman spoke to fifteen hundred school children at the New Castle high school building in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. At 3 o'clock an open-air meeting was held on the court house lawn. The vice-president spoke in a happy manner from the band stand plaza. His speech was preceded by a concert by the Maxwell-Briscoe band of New Castle. Following the meeting Mr. Sherman and Mr. Watson visited the American Beauty rose greenhouse.

The apex of the day's entertainment came at noon when the guests were entertained with a five-dollar-a-plate banquet at the Nip and Tuck club. The meal at Nipp Springs was the most enjoyable event of the day. The vice-president revealed the reason for his cognomen, "Sunny Jim." His stories were of the richest-hue and Mayor Shank of Indianapolis and Mr. Watson recited some humorous tales of their own experience. Jesse Pugh gave a reading at the dinner and was loudly applauded.

"Lots more back home just like him," shouted a Rushville booster.

Charles Hernly, New Castle's own Charley, presided at the dinner, when toasts were made that sparkled with wit. Rushville men declare that it was a most enjoyable occasion. The rip-roaring good fellowship and the pleasant mood of all of the dinner guests made it an event long to be remembered.

James E. Watson spoke briefly in responding to a toast. Mayor Shank of Indianapolis was welcomed royally when he arose to speak. He gave his own political history and told some of his own weird experiences while in office in his characteristic manner.

Secretary of State Lew G. Ellingham, who with J. Fred France, clerk of the Supreme and Appellate courts, represented the State House Democrats at the chicken doings, expressed his delight in being permitted to visit New Castle and to join with the honored guests of the occasion in a non-partisan affair.

Charles E. Shively of Richmond, Judge Comstock of Richmond, and Judge W. O. Barnard of New Castle, former representative from the Sixth district, were other speakers at the

SALOONS HERE TAKE NO CHANCE

Thirst Parlors Close Doors in Accordance With Law Naming Discovery Day as Holiday.

MANY DIFFERENT OPINIONS

Some Say Act is Unconstitutional
And Attorney General Honan
Gives Unofficial Opinion.

The saloons of this city were closed today in observance of the law declaring October 12, Discovery Day, a legal holiday. The law was passed by the last legislature and some time ago a question arose as to whether the act was properly passed and Attorney General Honan at that time expressed an unofficial opinion that it was not properly passed and is unconstitutional.

The saloon men of this city differ in their opinions as to whether or not Discovery Day was made a legal holiday but decided to close their places of business rather than take a chance of being arrested. They say that if they kept open and were arrested that their attorneys' fees and court expenses would amount to more than they would take in over the bar in a day, so all agreed to close.

The question of closing on Discovery Day has been discussed all over the State and many places the saloons remained open. A party of tourists stopped in front of a local thirst parlor this afternoon and were surprised to find the doors locked. They told Chief McAllister that they had just come from Shelbyville and the saloons were wide open there.

Soon after the passage of the law which was first brought up by Senator J. G. Lamont on the petition of the Knights of Columbus of Indiana, Attorney General Honan discovered that the author of the amendment had made a mistake in the title of his amendment which reads as follows: "An act to amend section one of an act concerning legal holidays, approved March 4, 1905." It was discovered that this act had been amended previously to the one introduced by Lamont. Honan held at that time that the author of the bill should have asked for an amendment to the amendment instead of an amendment to the original bill which had been displaced.

Since that time, however, Honan has seemingly changed his mind and when the authorities from all over the State wrote him for information he sent back that October 12 was a legal holiday.

FEVER EPIDEMIC.

There is reported to be an epidemic of malarial fever in the vicinity of the old mill race near Knightstown. The epidemic is said to have been caused by water standing and becoming stagnant in the mill race, which was cut into by the Pennsylvania Company when the double tracks were laid there. The Henry county prosecutor has written the company a letter asking them to abate the nuisance.

ALL RIGHT.

Indianapolis Star: While Mr. Sherman was about it, he might just as well have elected Jim Watson speaker of the House.

BALICALLY SPEAKING.

LIGHTS PIPE; IS BURNED

Squire Riche's Son of Milroy is Painfully Injured.

Ray Riche, son of Squire Ben F. Riche of Milroy, saturated his sleeves with gasoline this morning and then lit his pipe. The result, of course, was very disastrous for young Riche. His arms were badly but not seriously burned. It is thought that he will soon recover even though the burns were very painful as they covered much surface. Squire Riche, besides conducting a pool room, a squire's court, and bowling alley upstairs, sells gasoline. Young Riche used the good judgment to close the lid to the gasoline tank before he lit his pipe but he neglected to change his shirt.

SLIPS AND FALLS ON THE SIDEWALK

Earl Linville is Seriously Hurt After Alighting From Street Car in Indianapolis.

IS AT HIS HOME IN THIS CITY

Earl Linville of Indianapolis is confined at the home of his father, Al Linville, at 218 North Julian street with a badly injured ankle which may cause him serious difficulty. He was hurt in a peculiar accident in Indianapolis Monday night and came to his father's home yesterday to be treated for it. Dr. D. D. VanOsdel was called and said that the injury was a very serious one. His ankle is so badly swollen that it is impossible for the physician to examine it and determine whether any bones are broken.

Linville alighted from a street car in Indianapolis Monday night while it was still running fast and ran to the stone steps to the house where he roomed. The sidewalk was wet, and just as he was about to step on the first step, his feet slipped from under him and he went sprawling. He slid on his back up to the stone steps and his feet was jammed up against the steps with terrific force which caused the injury to his ankle. Linville has been employed by George Caldwell at the Indianapolis Stockyards hotel.

MAN WHO STOLE RIG FINED BY MAYOR

James Williams, Owner of the Outfit
Would Not Push the Larceny
Charges Against Garrison.

IN JAIL FOR ELEVEN DAYS

John Garrison, who yesterday took a horse and buggy belonging to James Williams of near New Salem, from the hitch-rack here while intoxicated, was fined one dollar and costs last night by Mayor Black. Garrison could not pay the fine and went to jail for eleven days.

Garrison was so intoxicated that he could not drive and the horse got from under his control and ran away. The buggy was badly damaged and Williams estimates his loss as $100. Williams at first said he would prosecute Garrison on a petit larceny charge, but later decided not to file the charge and Garrison was tried for being drunk. His brother, who was with him yesterday morning, was ordered out of the city by the police.

WATSON BOOM IS REGENERATED

Writer in New Castle Courier Declares Sixth District is For Former Congressman.

INTERVIEWS REPRESENTATIVES

Mayor Richmond Says Watson is the Man For Republicans to Rally Around in Next Campaign.

Kenneth Craig, who represented the New Castle Courier at the Republican love feast Tuesday night, says of Watson:

"Elect James E. Watson to congress," emphasized "Uncle Joe" Cannon at Rushville Tuesday evening. "If he won't run, draft him. The country needs him, you need him and the Republican party needs him."

When the venerable speaker, who has grown old and gray in the service of his party and country, insisted on the return of James E. Watson to congress, there thundered back from the 2,000 Sixth district Republicans who heard the declaration of the Illinois statesmen, a tremendous "We will." They meant it, too.

It was thus that the Watson congressional boom was regenerated. Joe Cannon did not start it. He only revived what was started a month ago. He added fuel to the flame that will never be extinguished until the Republicans of the district have the opportunity to determine who shall be their standard bearer in the campaign of 1912.

Mr. Watson in a private conversation Tuesday evening again declared that he was not seeking political honors. He seems determined to continue in his present course of happiness, a career free from care, free from worries and devoid of all the disagreeable circumstances that surround a political campaign. He has now the opportunity to devote attention to his wife and boys. Those boys are his pride and that wife is his queen.

In striking contrast to Watson's desire to remain out of politics, except in a capacity to cement the factions of Republicanism into one great smooth machine, was the sentiment and determination to put him in the harness again, expressed last night. The Henry county delegation almost up to the man is for him; Rush can not help but support him; Fayette is also in line and so is Liberty and Union; and all of the other counties of the district, including Wayne.

I talked with a number of men from as many different parts of the district concerning Watson's boom. It was a candid discussion in each case and in but one instance I found one person adverse to the nomination of Mr. Watson. He thought that it was too early to discuss the matter now.

"I am for Watson and I believe that the majority of Republicans in Wayne county will be for him," said Dr. W. W. Zimmerman, mayor of Richmond. "Some of us may not like him personally, although I do, but all of us realize that a general centering must be made on one man and that man in my opinion is Mr. Watson."

The Richmond mayor's sentiment was re-echoed time and time again by citizens from other counties in the district. The meeting here Wednesday was not for the purpose of reviving Watson political possibilities, but it revived itself into such a condition.

Germes Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery. Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief for the very first application. We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim. If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

Efforts of Powers Secure Suspension of Hostilities.

GERMANY TAKES LEADING PART

Though Official Decision Has Not Yet Been Announced, It Is Learned from an Authoritative Quarter in Berlin That an Armistice Will at Once Be Declared Between the Warring Governments of Italy and Turkey.

Rome, Oct. 12.—Derna was bombarded yesterday. Hospitals and barracks were damaged as well as other buildings, and many were killed and wounded. The bombardment followed an unsuccessful attempt on the part of Italian bluejackets to make a landing for a warship in the harbor.

London, Oct. 12.—"From an authoritative quarter," says Reuter's Berlin correspondent, "it is learned that the efforts of the powers, especially of Germany, to secure a suspension of hostilities in Tripoli have been so successful that both belligerents have agreed upon an armistice, though official decision has not yet been taken. Italy will continue to send troops to Tripoli pending the outcome of the negotiations which follow the armistice, but no hostilities will occur." It is said that Italy will allow the Turkish garrison to evacuate Tripoli with military honors and spare the humiliation of surrender provided that Turkey will become reconciled to the unconditional loss of the province. Peace under such conditions is possible, though it is not considered imminent.

CAUGHT NAPPING

Turkey Was Wholly Unprepared For the Present Conflict.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—Shevket Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, said that even Asia Minor was not properly garrisoned, for Turkey had not known that there was reason to fear attack.

The defense of Tripoli was impossible, as Turkey had no fleet. Asked how far Turkey was prepared to go in the matter of concessions, Shevket Pasha said: "We have not yet decided. We are waiting to know what Italy's demands will be." In reply to a question regarding Turkey's hopes of mediation by the powers or if she contemplated a direct communication with Italy, he replied: "We hope that Italy will spare us that. The intervention of the powers is the most suitable way to have the matter settled."

Starvation Overcoming Troops.
Tripoli, Oct. 12.—It seems impossible that there should be anything in the nature of resistance to the Italians on the part of the Turks. There are stories of absolute distress among the force that is now encamped in the desert scarcely an hour's ride from the city. The men are said to be almost without food and water and suffering from the intense heat. Soldiers who entered the city in a deplorable state said that their comrades are slowly dying from hunger and thirst.

BROKE UP MEETING

Woman's Method of Waking Husband in Church Started Things.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Oct. 12.—When Mrs. John Will Goodpaster saw her husband napping during service in the Holiness church, she nudged him in the ribs. He failed to arouse and she tickled him with a hatpin. The pin slipped in too far and the husband awoke with a jump. He grappled with his wife and the fight brought the church services to a close. It also brought Patrolman Pete Hancock. Mayor Thomas S. Carmichael heard the story in court and Goodpaster and his wife were each fined $5 and costs for disturbing the meeting. As they could not pay the fines both went to jail to serve it out.

Two Victims of Freight Wreck.
Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 12.—Two men were killed and two others seriously injured in a freight wreck on the Wheeling & Lake Erie road at Long Run. The dead are Clyde King, conductor, and Thomas Burdett, friend of King.

ADVERTISING BY THE

AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

GENERAL OFFICES
NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
BRANCHES IN ALL THE PRINCIPAL CITIES

We might all extend a vote of thanks to the Rushville Retail Merchants Association and James E.
Watson for the biggest day which Rushville has enjoyed in many years.

Both friendly and unfriendly newspaper comment has been made on the Republican love feast at Rushville, but to please all the newspapers all the time would be a more difficult job than pleasing all the people all the time.

"This must be the last stand of the Old Guard," says the Richmond Palladium in commenting on the Republican love feast here. The Palladium is vainly attempting to keep good old Wayne county in a rancorous state but from all reports up that way Wayne is gradually slipping away from our young Mr. Leeds and his friends and is assuming its equilibrium once more. Too bad, but it's a losing fight you are making.

And to think of it, the Indianapolis
News was not pleased with the Republican love feast here. How dare the News mention such a thing?
Just as if anyone thought the News would be pleased. Since the days of Benjamin Harrison it has been impossible for the Indiana Republicans to do that. The Republicans couldn't stand the clip.

The Indianapolis Sun, as usual, made a miserable botch of the story of the non-partisan celebration and Republican love feast here Tuesday in honor of the vice-president. The dear Sun, whose principal occupation is arousing dissension in the Republican party, carried a story to the effect that the whole affair was non-partisan and that Cannon, Sherman and Watson overstepped the boundary line by making a partisan gathering of it. Apparently the Sun knew not whereof it spoke.

A 58 foot whale has come ashore on the Jersey coast, but it is not true that he was hanging around expecting that Woodrow Wilson would be offered him as a Jonah.

In view of the fatalities already recorded from the deer season, it will not be needful to offer any bounty for the heads of Adirondack guides.

William Butler Yeates says a man to do anything must have some "chaos" in him, but it would seem more useful to feed him on good nutritious hash.

Last spring we were told that the "boll weevil" was running the cotton crop of this country, and now we are told that the 1911 cotton crop is the largest in the history of the country!
Looks as if the Indiana Democratic press bureau was in the cotton belt engaged in throwing the usual scare into the people when the "awful calamity" was being sent broadcast early this year.

Of course, the Richmond Palladium would have overlooked one big bet had it not discoursed at length on the Republican love feast here.
It was fine stuff for their stock and trade. Since we have read very few editorials of a commendatory nature in the Palladium, very little else was expected. Ha! Ha! villain, here is something to criticize. What a rare opportunity! The editorial writer on the Palladium was here until six o'clock and then he hurried back to old Wayne. He got a little of the atmosphere and his imagination did the rest. He did not see the throngs of shouting Republicans at the love feast nor did his ears tingle with the shouts of the multitude.
He didn't need that; it was not on his program.

Certainly that dear Weather Man, who has been excluded from this column for these many weeks, should have a vote of thanks for the kind of stuff he's giving us these days.

Football players might indulge in a really safe diversion such as the Italian war.

Health journal says that clothes should be washed apart. We are not quite sure but we believe, that is done much of the time anyway.

Liszt, the pianist, was born one hundred years ago and still there are a lot of people who do not know how to spell his name.

We compliment the Jacksonian on such good taste—using a whole editorial from the Daily Republican.

And we will be magnanimous enough to speak out the name plainly, too.

"Fines for contempt of court are becoming more numerous," says an exchange. Perhaps it's gettin' harder to conceal the contempt.

"Claribelle" has written this column to know when a wife has a right to go through her husband's pockets.
Knowing her husband as we do, we would not advise but say that most any kind of a job would pay better.

Young man, if your young woman friend asks you how you like her new fall hat—lie.

Look well to the workmanship in your tailored

It is what gives elegance to this season's plainer, simpler modes. And the lack of it utterly spoils the most expensive and the most elaborate.

Neatly turned seams, perfectly finished button holes, harmonious linings, a trim fitting collar—these are the little things that indicate good clothes—to the observing.

These are the things that after all show whether a garment is worth its price.

Good judgment dictates that you buy the best for

Don't Kindle A Fire
Every Morning This Winter

Ever get up on a cold morning and find the fire in your Base Burner all dead around the edges---a dim red spot of fire in the center?

The house was chilly, and it was a mighty disagreeable job to get up a good fire with only a few live coals to start it with.

You will never have any trouble like that with a FAVORITE BASE BURNER.
The Favorite will hold fire longer and more evenly than any other Base Burner made.
It will keep the temperature in your home
even, day and night.
When you wake in the morning your house will be as warm as
when you went to bed.

You'll find the reason
in the flues and perfect fitting of the Favorite.
Every door, joint and frame is paper tight.

The Favorite has held fire continuously for five successive days and nights without going out. Let us explain why the Favorite will save you full one-half in fuel bills and throw out more heat.

AMUSEMENTS

The opening of the new Princess theater has been postponed until Saturday night. The management had hoped to open the theater to-night but the failure of the machine to arrive made the postponement necessary.

The Portola offers a feature show for Friday and Saturday nights. The program includes three reels of pictures and two songs. One of the pictures "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was shown here some time ago and is returned at a special request. The picture is said to be one of the best ever produced and the demand for a return engagement was so heavy that the management decided to bring it back. Another great war picture will also be shown. It is entitled "The Battle of Bunker Hill" and was taken on the famous battlefield.

You Can Be a Better Cook

It isn't all in the "knack." The utensils you use go a long way toward making your food fine and appetizing or ill-cooked and indigestible.

It's impossible to make the best cookery in utensils that quickly scorch or crack and scale off, rust and corrode. And such utensils are dangerous. Authorities say that cancer comes of eating particles of glass chipped off from ordinary enamel ware when hot.

The heat expands the iron frame but the coating of glass—which is all enamel ware is—does not expand so fast, consequently it breaks and gets mixed with the food.

There is no such danger from food cooked in up-to-date

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Woman's Way.

When the duchess thought of looking for Blair later in the afternoon he was not to be found. Galorey told her finally he had gone off in the motor with Letty Lane, bareheaded. The duchess was bidding good-by to the last guest; she motioned Galorey to wait and he did so, and they found themselves alone in the room where the flowers, still fresh, offered their silent company; the druggets strewn with leaves of smilax, the open piano with its scattered music the dark rosewood that had served for a rest for Letty Lane's white hand. Galorey and

"I Think You'll Have to Let Dan Go, Lily!"

The duchess turned their backs on the music-room, and went into a small conservatory looking out over the park.

"He's nothing but a cowboy," the lady exclaimed. "He must be quite mad, going off bareheaded through London with an actress."

"He's spoiled," Lord Galorey said peacefully.

ACTUAL STARVATION

Facts About Indigestion and Its Relief That Should Interest You.

Although Indigestion and Dyspepsia are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good-looking, good-smelling, and good-tasting food, because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve Dyspepsia. We are so confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to everyone who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give the ma reasonable trial, according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment. In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which cost for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, corner Main and Third streets.

She carried a bunch of orchids Dan had given her, and regarded them absently. "I've made him angry, and he's taking this way of exhibiting his spleen."

Galorey said cheerfully: "Oh, Dan's got lots of spirit."

Looking up from the contemplation of her flowers to her friend, the duchess murmured with a charming smile: "I don't lit it off very well with Americans, Gordon."

His color rising, Galorey returned: "I think you'll have to let Dan go, Lily!"

For a second she thought so herself; and they both started when the voice of the young man himself was heard in the next room.

"Good-by, I'll let you make your peace, Lily," and Gordon passed Dan in the drawing-room in leaving, and thought the boy's face was a study.

The duchess held out her hand to Dan as he came across the room.

"Come here," she called agreeably. "Every one has gone, thank heaven! I've been waiting for you for an age. Let's talk it all over."

"Just what I've come back to do."

There had been royalty at the musicale, and the hostess spoke of her guests and their approval, mentioning one by one the names of the great. It might have impressed the ear of a man more snob than was the Montana copper king's son. "I did so want you to meet the Bishop of London," she said. "But nobody could find you. You look most awfully well, Dan," and with the orchids she held, she touched his hand.

He was so direct, so incapable of anything but the honest truth, that Dan didn't know deceit when he saw it, and his lady spoke so naturally that he thought for a moment her rudeness had been unintentional. Perhaps she hadn't really meant—Everybody in her set was rude, great and rude, but she could be deliciously gracious, and was so now.

"Don't you think it went off well?" Dan said that it had been ripping and no mistake.

"I like Lady Calwain; she's bully, and I liked the king. He spoke to me as if he had known me for a year."

She began to be a little more at her ease.

"I didn't care much for the fiddling, but Letty Lane made up for all the rest," said Dan. "Wasn't she great?"

"Rather!" The duchess' tone was so warm that he asked frankly: "Well, why didn't you speak to her, Lily?" And the directness caught her unprepared. The insult to the actress by which she had planned to teach him a lesson failed to give her the bravado she found she needed to meet Dan's question. Her part of the transaction, deliberate, unkind, seemed worse and more serious through his headlong act, when he had driven off, braving her, in the motor of an actress. She didn't dare to be jealous.

"Wasn't it too dreadful?" she murmured. "Do you think she noticed it too awfully? I was just about to go up and speak to her when the prime minister—"

Dan interrupted the duchess. He blushed for her.

"Never mind, Lily." His tone had in it something of benevolence. "If you really didn't mean to be mean—"

She was enchanted by her easy victory. "It was abominable."

"Yes," he accepted, "it was just that! I was mortified. You wouldn't treat a beggar so. But she's got too much sense to care."

Eager to do the duchess justice, even though he was little by little being emancipated, he was all the more determined to be fair to her.

"It was too sweet of her not to mind. I dare say her check helped to soothe her feelings," the woman said. "You don't know her," he replied quietly. "She wouldn't touch a cent."

The duchess exclaimed in horror: "Then she did mind."

And he turned slowly: "She's eaten and drunk with kings, and if the king hadn't gone so early you can bet he would have set the fashion differently. Let's drop the question. She sent you back your check, and I guess you're quits."

With a sharp note in her voice she said: "I hope it won't be in the papers that you drove bareheaded back to the hotel with her. Don't forget that we are dining with the Galoreys, and it's past seven."

After Dan had left her, the duchess glanced over the dismantled room which the servants were already restoring to order. She was not at ease and not at peace, but there was something else besides her tiff with Dan that absorbed her, and that was Galorey. She couldn't quite shake him off. He was beginning to be imperious in his demands on her; and, in spite of her capricious and her debts, she could not break with Galorey yet. She went upstairs humming under her breath the ballad Letty Lane had sung in the music room:

"And long may his lady look from the castle wall."

CHAPTER XIX.

Dan Awakes.

The next night Dan, magnetically drawn down the Strand to the Galety, arrived just before the close of the last act, slipped in, and sat far back watching Letty Lane close her part. After hearing her sing as she had the afternoon before in the worldly group, it was curious to see her before the public in her flashing dress and to realize how much she was a thing of the people. Tonight she was a completely personal element to Dan. He could never think of her again as he had hitherto. The sharp drive through the town that afternoon in her motor had made a change in his feelings. He had been hurt for her, with anger at the duchess of Breakwater's rudeness, and from the first he had always known that there was in him a hot championship for the actress. Tonight, whenever the man who sang with her put his arms around her, danced with her, held her, it was an offense to Dan Blair; it had angered him before, but tonight it did more. One by one everything faded out of his foreground but the brilliant little figure with her golden hair, her lovely face, her beautiful graceful body, and in her last gesture on the stage before the curtain went down, she seemed to Blair to call him and distinctly to make an appeal to him:

"You might rest your weary feet If you came to Mandalay."

Well, there was nothing weary about the young, live, vigorous American, as, standing there in his dark edge of the theater, his hands in his pockets, his bright face fixed toward the stage, he watched the slow falling of the curtain on the musical drama. Dan realized how full of vigor he was; he felt strong and capable, indeed a feeling of power often came to him delightfully, but it had never been needful for him to exert his forces, he had never had need to show his mettle. Now he felt at those words:

"You might rest your weary feet"

how, with all his heart, he longed that the dancer should rest those lovely tired little feet of hers, far away from any call of the public, far away on some lovely shore which the hymn tune called the coral strand. As he gazed at her mobile, sensitive face, whose eyes had seen the world, and whose lips—Dan's thoughts changed here with a great pang, and the close his heart to hear her voice bid him come in. But there were other voices in the room. He rattled the door knob and Letty Lane herself called to him without opening the door:

"Will you go, please, Mr. Blair? I can't see anyone tonight."

He had nothing to do but to go—to grind his heel as he turned—to swear deeply against Poniotowsky. His late ecstasy was turned to gall. The theater seemed horrible to him: the chattering of the chorus girls, their giggles, their laughter as he passed the little groups, all seemed weird and infernal, and everything became an object of irritation.

As he went blindly out of the theater he struck his arm against a piece of stage fittings and the blow was sharp and stinging, but he was glad of the hurt.

Without, in the street, Dan took his place with the other men and waited, a bitter taste in his mouth and anger in his breast, waited until Letty Lane fluttered down, followed by Poniotowsky, and the two drove away.

The young man could have gone after, running behind the motor, but their was a taxicab at hand; he jumped in it, ordering the man to follow the car to the Savoy. There the boy had the pleasure of seeing Miss Lane enter the hotel, Poniotowsky with her—had the anguish of seeing them both go up in the lift to her apartments.

When Dan came to himself he heard the chimes of St. Martin's ring out eleven. He then remembered for the first time that he had promised to dine alone at home with the Duchess of Breakwater.

"Gosh, Lily will be wild!"

In spite of the lateness of the hour he hurried to Park Lane. The familiar face of the man servant who let him in blurred before the young man's eyes. Her grace was out at the theater? Blair would wait then, and he went into the small drawing room, quiet, empty, reposeful, with a fire across the andirons, for the evening was damp and cool. Still dazed by his jealous, passionate emotions, he glanced about the room, chose a long leather sofa, and stretching out his length, fell asleep. There in the shadow he slept profoundly, waking suddenly to find that he was not alone. Across the room the Duchess of Breakwater stood by the table; she was in evening dress, her cloak and gloves on the chair at her side. She laughed softly and the man to whom she laughed, on whom she smiled, was Lord Galorey.

Blair raised himself up on the sofa without making any noise, and he saw Galorey take the woman in his arms. The sight didn't make the fiance angry. He realized instantly that he wanted to believe that it was true, and as there was nothing theatrical in the young westerner, he sprang up, slang so much a part of his nature that the first words that came to his lips was a phrase in vogue.

"Look who's here!" he cried, and came blithely forward, his head clear, his lips smiling.

The duchess gave a little scream and Dan lunged up to the two people and held his hand frankly out to the lady.

"That's all right, Lily! Go right on, Gordon, please. Only I had to let you know when I waked up! Only fair. I guess I must have been asleep quite a while."

The duchess of Breakwater shrugged. "I don't know what you dreamed," she said acidly, "if you were asleep."

"Well, it was a very pretty dream," the boy returned, "and showed what a stupid ass I've been to think I couldn't have dreamed it when I was awake."

RAILWAY YARDS SCENE OF WRECK

Light Engine Runs Amuck at Washington.

HEAD BRAKEMAN WAS KILLED

When Engine That Was Being Broken in Ran Into an Extra Oil Train on B. & O. S-W., at Washington, Ind., the Track Was Strewn With Blazing Cars—Wild Engine Kept on Going Until It Died Eight Miles Away.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 12.—In a collision between an engine which was being broken in and an extra oil train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwest railway, half a mile west of the local shops, Charles Jones, aged twenty-eight, and married, of Sumner, Ill., was killed. Jones was head brakeman on the extra train and was riding the engine. The crews of the two engines escaped injury by jumping.

Following the collision one of the oil tanks sprang a leak and a fire ensued that destroyed several cars. The impact of the two locomotives broke the light engine loose from its tender and it started at a terrific rate. Fortunately the main line was clear and the runaway engine did no damage. It died at Montgomery, after having run eight miles. An engine and cut of cars had just been shoved into a siding when the runaway engine steamed through the shop yards at a speed of seventy miles an hour.

GOT HARD FALL

Unfortunate St. Louis Aviator Meets Mishap at Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12.—As he was attempting to go into the air here, Horace Kearney of St. Louis fell with his Curtis aeroplane and narrowly escaped death. His machine was wrecked. A crowd of 10,000 witnessed the accident. Kearney, who was walking on crutches as a result of an accident at St. Louis in August, when he fell and broke his legs and several ribs, attempted to make his flight in a field adjoining the Indiana university campus. He either did not have the power to rise, or lost control of the machine, and it caught in a tree about 200 feet from where he started. The machine whirled around and fell back hard. Kearney was thrown clear of the machine. He fell on his head in a small brook and his neck was wrenched and his body bruised, but he did not lose consciousness, and unless he suffered internal injuries he will recover.

Boy's Persistence Rewarded.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 12.—Arthur Smith, aged nineteen, made his first long flight in his home-made biplane, of which he is the maker. He started at the old golf grounds east of town and followed the Wabash tracks to New Haven. Smith alighted without injury to his machine, a mile east of New Haven and made his return flight safely. This flight rewards a year's persistent work by the young inventor.

Mrs. Farina Breaks Jail.

Knox, Ind., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Minnie Farina, in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill, brought by two neighbor women, escaped by removing a radiator from the floor and lowering herself to the basement by a rope made from bedclothes. She has not been recaptured. Her husband, Carl Farina, is serving a life sentence for murder.

Suicide of an Unknown.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 12.—Small boys hunting in the woods along the lake shore near New Buffalo discovered the body of a man, about thirty years old, who had hung himself to a tree. The corpse swung from a high tree that stood sentinel-like at the top of a high cliff overlooking the lake. Not a single mark of identification was found on the body.

Mother May Not Survive.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 12.—While Mrs. Charles Bundger lay at the point of death with typhoid fever she was informed her son Roy, aged eleven, had been killed by an automobile, the second fatal accident in the family in a month. The mother may not survive.

Must Pay Extreme Penalty.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 12.—George Davis, who almost severed the head of May Marshall at Gary with a razor last spring, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the Lake superior court and sentenced to be hanged. Davis came from Chicago to Gary.

Pike County in Bloom.

Petersburg, Ind., Oct. 12.—Apple trees, snowball bushes, wild violets and cherry trees are blossoming, and corn in the field that has not been husked is sprouting in the shock. Weather conditions in Pike county are similar to spring.

To Buy Waterworks Plant.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 12.—The city council has passed over the mayor's veto a tax levy of 10 cents on $100 to create a sinking fund for the purchase of its waterworks plant.

GIUSEPPE COSTABILE

Reputed Head of Black Hand
 Convicted in New York Court.

New York, Oct. 12.—Giuseppe Costabile, known as "the fox" and reputed leader of the Black Hand here, was found guilty of carrying a bomb concealed upon his person and was remanded for sentence. The conviction is the first step in the efforts of the police to break up the so-called Black Hand organization.

WOMEN WILL TRY IT OVER AGAIN THEY SAY

California Suffragists Not Discouraged By Defeat.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 12.—While nearly all the other twenty-two amendments submitted to the people were adopted, woman's suffrage was defeated in Tuesday's election by about 5,000 majority. The defeat of suffrage was accomplished by this city, which gave a majority against the amendment of 13,455, while outside of the city the state gave a majority of 8,000 for suffrage.

It is claimed by anti-suffrage leaders that the women brought about their own defeat by their pernicious activity at the polls and during the week previous. It afforded an object lesson of what might be expected when women had the ballot.

Undiscouraged by their defeat, women, taking advantage of the initiative amendment, which was adopted, are preparing to submit to the people at the regular election in November another plan for suffrage. It is interesting to note that the recall, which is opposed by President Taft, received a majority of 75,000, the greatest vote of all the amendments.

OVINGTON FALLS

Bump Knocks Out of Him Ambition For Los Angeles Trip.

Garden City, L. I., Oct. 12.—Earle L. Ovington, the aerial postman, fell seventy-five feet with his monoplane at the Nassau boulevard aerodrome and narrowly escaped serious injury. The aeroplane was smashed up, and the aviator has now given up, for the time being at any rate, his intention of flying to Los Angeles with the mail. Ovington has been having trouble with his machine all week. He took his plane out for further trials and had not got more than 200 yards from his hangar when the motor stopped. The left wing hit the ground first and buckled up. Then the machine wobbled over on the other side and the right wing was reduced to splinters.

Ovington was pitched head foremost out of his cockpit when the wheels first bumped the earth. He was, however, unhurt. Quickly picking himself up, he shouted to his friends, who were running across the field to help him: "If I ever get to Los Angeles it will be on that special train."

Charged With Trying to Bribe Mayor.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 12.—Four leading officials of the Wilkesbarre Light company were brought into court charged with bribery, corrupt solicitation and conspiracy to bribe Mayor Lewis P. Kniffen of this city, with $4,000 in cash and $25,000 in bonds, to sign an ordinance granting the company a seventy-five-year franchise. They are John J. Cummins, vice president and general manager; Joseph L. Dunn, secretary, and Dr. E. A. Sweeney and Joseph Humphries, directors.

Indictments Charge Murder.

Jasper, Ind., Oct. 12.—The grand jury returned seventeen indictments and among the number was one charging Ella R. Mertes with murder in the first degree for killing her husband, Louis P. Mertes, Aug. 13. Another indictment charges Daniel Spurgeon, aged sixty-five, with murder in the first degree for killing his son-in-law, Ellsworth Mack, July 22. Judge Bretz set both cases for trial.

HOLIDAY PUTS STOP TO TRIAL

Columbus Day Interrupts McNamara Case.

DEFENDANTS TRIED SINGLY

Two Points Were Determined Upon Opening of Noted Trial, One That James B. McNamara Should Be the First of the Brothers to Face the Jury; the Second That It Is to Be a Trial of Individuals and Not Labor.

Los Angeles, Cal., October 12.—Charged with the murder of Charles Haggerty, one of twenty-one persons who lost their lives in the explosion that wrecked the Los Angeles Times building a few minutes after 1 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1, 1909, James B. McNamara, iron worker and alleged dynamiter, is on trial for his life.

John J. McNamara was returned to his cell in the county jail, there to await the outcome of the trial of his brother.

The defense early indicated clearly the fight it is going to make to get a jury of its liking. When the examination of the first venireman called, Z. T. Nelson of Long Beach, Cal., commenced, Lecompte Davis began questioning him as to his opinion regarding labor organizations. The prosecution objected to this line of questions, asserting that organized labor is not on trial—that this is to be a trial of individuals and not of the issues between capital and labor. Davis finally withdrew his questions.

Practically the entire afternoon yesterday was taken up with the examination of Nelson by Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, and Joseph Scott, associate counsel. Nelson was trapped finally into an admission of some prejudice in the case, and while he was still in the box when court adjourned, it is certain he will be challenged. Adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock Friday morning, as today is Columbus day, a legal holiday in California.

Handcuffed together and in the center of a group of deputy sheriffs, the McNamaras walked the short distance between the jail and the courthouse. John J. McNamara, admittedly his brother's superior in intelligence, was smiling and amiable. He seemed wholly unconcerned. James B. McNamara, always pale, was even more so. He did not share his brother's jovial spirits. Both were well dressed.

Every seat in the courtroom had been taken long before the McNamaras entered the room. When Judge Bordwell called the case of the people of California against John J. and James B. McNamara, the district attorney said the question of whether the defendants were to be tried together or singly was uppermost.

"We will have our clients tried singly," said Darrow.

"We will try James B. McNamara now," replied the district attorney. The list of forty veniremen then was called and all answered to their names. Then a list of twelve were called to occupy seats in the box and the examination of the prospective jurors began.

PROVIDING A WAY

Illinois Board of Equalization Preparing For Tax Emergency.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—Because the local tax assessing bodies did not receive the supreme court's decision in regard to assessing the capital stock of Illinois corporations in time to act, it is probable the state board of equalization will take up the matter of taxing mercantile organizations.

Hotels, theaters and other corporations of similar character, which are not exempt by reason of the court's decision, are the ones most likely to be taken up by the state board.

The plea for increased assessments on the capital stock of the public service and other corporations in Chicago within the jurisdiction of the state board was made by Francis Wilson, county attorney of Cook county.

Another Court Martial.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Capt. Jacques L. Lafitte of the Twelfth infantry and First Lieutenant George E. Price of the Fourteenth cavalry will shortly be court-martialed on charges preferred by Major General J. Franklin Bell, commander-in-chief of the Philippine division. The nature of the charges have not been reported to the war department.

How Wilson Accounts For It.

Freehold, N. J., Oct. 12.—Governor Wilson made a bitter speech upon President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham in his speech at Red Bank last night. He said that it was due to the fact that they had no fixed purpose and changed their methods over night, that caused the present business depression in this country.

Village Store Robbed.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 12.—Two robbers entered the store of A. B. Gray & Co., at New Lebanon, and stole $3.50 from the cash drawer and merchandise valued at $30. The robbers made an effort to enter the postoffice, and robbed the Illinois Central depot, obtaining little of value.

HIS LAST DAY ENJOYABLE ONE

dinner.

Upon the arrival of the vice-president and Mr. Watson in New Castle yesterday at 11:45 o'clock, the two men were treated to a ride in a 1912 model of the Maxwell around a half-mile test track at the factory. The vice-president was to be treated to a mile-a-minute clip around the track, but the gasoline gave out about midway around much to the disgust of the manager of the Maxwell-Briscoe. The joke was on him.

The local automobile party was met yesterday morning at Lewisville by a committee of New Castle men composed of W. O. Barnard and Thomas B. Millikan. The vice-president and James E. Watson were taken to New Castle in A. P. Walker's seven-passenger Premier.

The auto ride from this city to

New Castle was possibly the most enjoyable part of the vice-president's visit to Indiana. Since the Hoosier State is at its best in October, the native Indianians pointed out to the vice-president with pride the beautiful scenery and urged him to inhale some of the good old Hoosier atmosphere.

Then somebody mentioned pawpaws, those "Hoosier bananas" that have aroused so much newspaper comment in the East. The vice-president expressed a desire to see one and the accommodating Mr. Walker stopped his machine at the first thicket and panted and fretted in a very industrious search. Someone accused him of being on very unfamiliar terms with a pawpaw and that he would not know one if he saw it out in the road. The auto party was rewarded at Lewisville when a citizen was found who had a liberal supply. He gave the vice-president eight or ten and "Sunny Jim" tried a couple.

"Some fruit, aren't they," he remarked.

The Rushville men who were in New Castle yesterday for the Nipp and Tuck club dinner and other features of the day's program were: Will Jay, Charles Frazee, Jesse Pugh, John A. Tittsworth, Will C. McColgin, Will Frazee, R. F. Scudder, John C. Blackledge, Allen Blackledge, Harvey Cowing, Dr. F. M. Sparks, W. E. Havens, Elmer Hume, A. L. Riggs and Walter Smith.

Judge Barnard headed the reception committee in New Castle and spoke for the city in acknowledging the presence of the distinguished guests and in extending greetings. Other members of the reception committee were W. H. Elliott, M. E. Forkner, A. W. Tracy, E. H. Bundy, D. W. Kinsey, T. B. Millikan, C. S. Hearnly, Ed Jackson, Clay C. Hunt, John F. Thompson, Fred Gause, Edgar French, R. H. McIntyre, A. D. Ogborn, W. J. Murphy, Ed Smith, R. G. Goodwin, George H. Wilcox, Walter Buhrman, O. J. Holloway, Charles Winterbotham, Lynn C. Boyd, O. J. Gronendyke, Harry E. Jennings, Walter Salmon, Josiah Fowler and W. G. Hillock.

Connersville News Speaks Highly of Entertainment Which Guests Received "Sherman Day."

WOMEN ENJOY ENTERTAINING

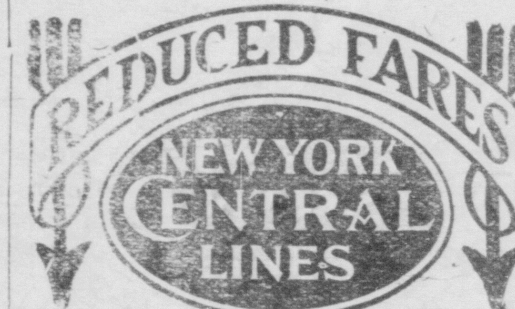

One of the most enjoyable features of the great meeting of Republicans in Rushville Tuesday was a banquet, given by the Social Club to the guests of the city Tuesday night, says the Connersville News. The spacious club rooms were in gala attire, like all the rest of Rushville, and the presence of scores of beautiful women, handsomely gowned and, it appeared, imbued with the sense of pleasure which characterized all the doings of the day, added a salient charm to it all. To these good ladies much of the complete success of the banquet was directly due. The viands came on, course after course, in the brightly lighted dining room, and the ears, as well as the palates of the banqueters were remembered by the committees in charge, for excellent music was discoursed throughout. The courses themselves were of the first order of excellence. All the distinguished guests of the city, and the representative people of Rushville as well, were there, and after the repast a happy hour was spent in conversation. At the close of it the gentlemen were conveyed from the club rooms to the Coliseum in a train of flag-wreathed automobiles.
